Nebulae

Media Release May 2018

Ross Gardam Presents the Nebulae Collection at ICFF.

Ross Gardam will be previewing the new Nebulae lighting collection at ICFF in New York from the 20th – 23rd of May 2018. The collection features chandeliers available in various configurations, a pendant, desk lamp and wall lights. Following his recent showing in Milan Design Week of the Ora Desk Lamp Gardam will be showing in New York for the first time. To accompany the preview of Nebulae Gardam will be debuting a key selection of his lighting range for the US market.

The Nebulae Collection is inspired by the diffusion of both natural and LED light. It takes its name from the natural phenomena of interstellar clouds and their dynamic layered lighting effects. The geometric machined forms coupled with the fluid glass discs create balance between the elements.

Nebulae's exploration of diffused light is a natural progression from Gardam's recent lighting collections, Ora and Polar, which explore light reflection and shade. The geometric language of the Polar Collection combined with precision nature of Ora can both be seen in the DNA of the Nebulae Collection.

Gardam comments. "Nebulae is certainly using a similar language to Polar and Ora however the final light output has a very unique quality. The fluted glass of Nebulae, even when turned off, has a beautiful motion to the glass elements as they diffuse each other and the environment around them"

Each of the glass finishes selected within the collection embody unique textures, ripples, bubbles incandescents and geometric patterns. With the inclusion of light combined with the layering of glass the products represent a highly original exploration of diffusion. In signature style each of the new products has an exceptional quality, detailed refinement and precision.
